

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Court Cases No. 8110, A. O. F., will meet in San Antonio hall at half past seven this evening.

A complete compilation of all territorial, county and municipal election laws has been made by Secretary of the Territory Mott Smith, and will be issued in pamphlet form.

The will of the late George C. Beckley was admitted to probate yesterday morning, there being no contest. The estate amounted to $107,485.45 in personal property and $50,000 in real estate.

The entertainment committee of the chamber of commerce will meet this afternoon with James A. Kennedy to discuss plans for the entertainment of the Coast representatives of the chambers of commerce who are taking in the excursion to China.

E. J. Lord was arrested last night by Motorcycle Policeman W. R. Chilton on a charge of fast driving. Lord is said to have driven an automobile at a rapid rate of speed at Hotel and Bishop streets. Chilton overtook Mr. Lord at Richards and King streets.

Internal Revenue Collector Drake has received authorization from Washington for the return to the Pacific Coast, in bond, of the imitation whisky and other intoxicants of a similar nature. This imitation stuff can not be sold here, under a restriction of the license board. Any saloon selling this imitation whisky stands to lose its license.

Governor Frear will issue a proclamation in a few days for the creation of new voting precincts. There may be a new precinct at Watertown, Pearl Harbor; at Wahiawa, this island, and at Kawaihae on Hawaii. The boundaries of the ninth and tenth precincts on Maui may be changed, and changes are proposed in the fourteenth of the fifth and the sixth, ninth and tenth of the fourth district on this island.

If some one has recently been bereft of four hens and a rooster, a call at the police station may result in the recovery of the pets. On Sunday night, along towards midnight, Police Officer Hose caught a man with the poultry and landed him in the cells as a suspected chicken thief. The man carried, when caught, a pair of pinchers, and the police believe that these formed his burglar kit, pinchers being admirably fitted for prying locks off of chicken coops.

CLOSING BILL IS AN EXCELLENT ONE

Last evening at the New Orpheum the members of the Casino company began the bill for the last week of their engagement here, and put up as good an allround bill as could possibly be asked for. The vaudeville acts were all up to the good standard set last week and the farce which followed was better than any which have gone before.

The whole burden of the vaudeville bill fell upon the shoulders of Melville Gideon as the orchestra had been dispensed with, and he had to be an orchestra and do his own act as well. In spite of the fact that he was handicapped by a badly sprained thumb Mr. Gideon managed the whole program beautifully and the orchestra was never missed. During his act Mr. Gideon sang another of his sure fire songs called "Pittsburg Pa." and played the accompaniments for Miss Mabel Bunyue who appeared in one of the handsomest black spangled gowns ever seen on the local stage. She gave a very clever imitation of Miss Anna Held singing "Just Can't Make My Eyes Behave." A French accent seems to come naturally to Miss Bunyue.

Miss Maude Rockwell in a gown of royal purple velvet sang by request that little gem of Hawley's "Because I Love You, Dear," and the waltz song from "The Merry Widow."

The Stech sisters seemed more popular than ever, especially Miss Vilma, who took the banner number of encores of the evening for her song "I Remember You." Miss Olga Stech looked beautiful and sang a song about a rose. Miss Olga is pretty and is gifted with a beautifully modulated voice, but she would be a far greater favorite if she would solve the little problem of minus affectation plus enunciation. Over three years ago Miss Olga's work was more pleasing than it is today as she was then more natural.

Miss Laurel Atkins in a screamingly funny bridal makeup was loudly cheered when she sang "Waiting at the Church," and finished with an eccentric dance done to the wedding march.

Carleton Chase sang three songs. Two of his established favorites and a snappy march to which the chorus did some good step dancing.

Harris McQuire went back to his makeup of the rube and repeated his former success, "Somebody Said," which, by the way, is one of Mr. Gideon's compositions.

Harry Garrity added a bright spot to the vaudeville bill and did a short monologue followed by a song of Wai-kiki which he wrote himself. The air seemed to catch on and the hit was complete when the curtain rose to disclose the Casino Four gaily paddling along in an outrigger.

In the farce "What Happened to Jones" Miss Olga Stech, Miss Laurel Atkins, Harry Garrity, Harry Stewart, Carleton Chase and Harris McQuire all did good work.

BRIDE DIES WITH HUSBAND AWAY

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Keikilani Kapunial Maby will be held at the St. Andrew's Cathedral this afternoon at half-past two o'clock, the Reverend Mr. Kroll officiating. Following the church services the body will be taken aboard the steamer Kinan for interment at Waimea, Kauai.

Mrs. Maby is the granddaughter of J. K. Kapunial, who for years has been the tax assessor at Waimea. She was born at Waimea on May 28, 1888, and received her primary education at the public schools of her home town. Later she came to Honolulu, attending both the Kamehameha Girls' School and St. Andrew's Priory.

In 1909 she was appointed as a school teacher in Makawili, at which place she met and became engaged to William I. Maby, one of the engineering staff of the steamer Maui. The young couple were married at Waimea on April 7th of this year and moved to Honolulu where they had decided to make their home. On the 17th of this month, just about four months after their marriage, Mrs. Maby was taken suddenly ill and was removed to the Queen's Hospital. The best of medical care failed her and the next day she passed away. So suddenly did this all happen that her husband, who was at Kawaihae on the steamer Cascade, was unable to get back to Honolulu in time to see his young wife alive. Mrs. Maby's numerous friends too could hardly believe that the end had come so soon.

AN EARLIER START FOR ROUNDING KAUAI

President Kennedy has decided that it will be better to start off the Mauna Kea next Saturday at nine o'clock in the evening than an hour later. This will give the passengers a good night's rest before arriving at Nawiliwili at six o'clock in the morning. The view approaching the peaks of Nawiliwili is something to be remembered.

It has been asked if there will be an opportunity for the overland ride to Hanalei from this first port of call. Mr. Kennedy has assured them that the road is good and there will be machines to take people over it to Hanalei, a matter of thirty miles. It is good driving for horses, if there is any one who prefers the old method of transportation. Those who wish may continue their drive to Waihiha. This trip promises to be one of the very best of the side excursions given under the management of the steamship company. A number of tourists will make the trip and see what many of the Honolulu and Kauai residents have never seen. The fare fixed by the Inter-Island company for this trip, $10, is very low considering the quality of meals and excellence of the accommodations on the Mauna Kea.
